

GAINESVILLE COMMITS ANOTHER MURDER

Killed Rhodes Sullivan, An Aged Man, Near Columbia City.

IS AN ESCAPED CONVICT

Made Successful Escape from Baker's Turpentine Camp, Near Campville, Few Weeks Ago, Was Chased to Gainesville and Lost.

Tom Gainey, who was sent up for life from the circuit court of Alachua county for the murder of a colored woman in the vicinity of Alachua and who made his escape from the turpentine camp of P. H. Baker at Campville a few weeks ago, full mention and particulars of which appeared in The Sun, is guilty of another murder, having killed an aged colored man near Columbia City, Columbia county, Thursday.

Thursday afternoon Sheriff Fennell received a telegram from the sheriff of Columbia county asking him to come at once and bring his hounds, as Gainey had killed another man. The sheriff could not go, but endeavored to get a message to Deputy Sheriff J. H. Granger, who was then in the vicinity of High Springs, to proceed to Fort White and assist the Columbia county officer. Officer Granger did not receive the message, however, and returned to Gainesville Friday morning.

Mr. Granger learned of the killing and said at one time he was inclined to go to the assistance of the Columbia county authorities, but inasmuch as he was working under direction of the Alachua county sheriff, thought it best to return home. Should he have gone his action would have been in accord with Sheriff Fennell's wishes.

Officer Granger states that from the particulars which could be learned at High Springs, Gainey killed a colored man named Rhodes Sullivan. It appears that Sullivan has been working in connection with the officers of Columbia county in an endeavor to effect Gainey's capture. Gainey learned this, and at an early hour Thursday morning he was watching the house, and when Sullivan went out on the piazza and was in the act of putting on his shoes he was shot dead, four buckshot from Gainey's gun having entered his head.

Gainey, who is a desperate man, is still at large.

Gainey's Escape.

The particulars of Gainey's escape from Campville have already appeared in this paper. It may be well, however, to refresh the reader's mind, that he was serving a life sentence in the Baker turpentine camp, and always gave the management and the guards more trouble than all other convicts combined. He was regarded as mean, tricky, and of that butt-headed disposition which was to say the least provoking. If he decided he did not care to work at certain times he was worse than a balking horse, and his force or persuasive power could induce him to move. Upon one occasion he took advantage of an opportunity to make his escape, and was successful. Having shielded himself behind other convicts until he had progressed a safe distance. The guard was afraid to fire, because it endangered the lives of other prisoners, with the result that when he did fire the range was too close to be effective. Gainey was chased to Gainesville, but in North Gainesville the dogs gave up the chase, and the fleeing convict made his escape. He has since been at large.

Wrote Broward a Letter.

From High Springs Gainey wrote Governor Broward a unique letter, in which he stated that he was not being entertained at the Baker camp with the hospitality which he thought was due him, and had decided to leave. "I did not kill that woman anyway," he concluded, "and I do not propose to suffer for it, so good-bye."

Negroes Turn State's Evidence.

Birmingham, Ala., July 28.—Jack Brown, the negro for whom a $50,000 reward was offered as the alleged assassin and murderer of John A. Smith, of Gadsden, and who was arrested at that city two days ago, made a statement yesterday in which he told exactly the same story as Vance Garner, held in jail here on the same charge, with the exception that he made the other negro the assassin and himself the would-be rescuer. Four alleged perpetrators of the crime are in Birmingham and each is ready against the other three.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Dead Man Found on River Bank.

Atlanta, July 28.—Arthur Wood, 30 years old, was found dead on the bank of the Chattahoochee river Tuesday afternoon by his mother. The body was very much decayed and Wood had evidently been dead for several days when found. The coroner held an inquest and returned a verdict of murder. There were evidence of the man's skull having been crushed. Two dollars in money, a pocketbook and an open knife were found under the body. The pockets of the man's clothes were turned wrong side out and it is believed he had been robbed. Wood was recently arrested on the charge of attempted assault and had only obtained his freedom a short time ago.

Envoys Visit President.

New York, July 28.—Kogoro Takahira and peace plenipotentiary his colleague, Baron Komura, went to Oyster Bay this forenoon to pay an informal visit to President Roosevelt. None of the suite accompanied the two peace delegates. They are expected to return late today. Tonight Baron Komura and the committee will dine informally with Baron Kaneko at the Metropolitan club.

The Boss Worm Medicine.

H. P. Kumpke, druggist, Leighton, Ala., writes: "One of my customers had a child which was sick, and threw up all food, could retain nothing on its stomach. He bought one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, and it brought up 119 worms from the child. It's the boss worm medicine in the world." White's Cream Vermifuge is also the children's tonic. It improves their digestion and assimilation of food, strengthens their nervous system and restores them to the health, vigor and elasticity of spirits natural to childhood. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

JAPANESE WHALERS.

The Curious Way They Do Their Work With Nets and Knives.

Whales are captured in nets by the Japanese. The whalers put off from the shore as quietly as possible, and when they come within the proper distance of their objective the boats, which have hitherto worked in couples, separate and, dropping their nets as they go, work around to the rear and flanks of their expected kill. The nets are made in large squares, each side being about forty feet long. One net is composed of six squares in line, and the squares are fastened to each other lightly. When all is ready the boats which have been worked around to the rear of the whale then commence to drive him gently toward the nets. Moving along lazily at first, the whale soon realizes that something untoward is happening and, hurrying forward, dashes on to one of the nets. This is the critical moment, and when the fishermen see that the whale is well in the center of one of the squares they raise a great shout and charge in upon him.

When the whale is about spent a man chosen for his strength, activity, pluck, coolness and general fitness for his work then leaps upon his back and with a great triangular shaped knife proceeds to cut two great gashes in his body just back of his head. Through the underlying blubber and these two gashes he passes a rope and, knotting it, makes a loop of it. He then repeats the same operation as far back on his body as he can. When the fight has been completely knocked out of the whale, boats range alongside of him, and by the help of the loops already mentioned the hapless cetacean is slung between them in such a manner as to minimize the danger of his carcass sinking.

Then the boats form in procession, and, making for the shore, there commences the most curious part of the whole affair. The whalers, with real fervor and in the most solemn manner possible, begin a chanting prayer for the ease of the departing spirit by calling out "Joraku! Joraku! Joraku!" in low, deep tones. Upon the third day after the kill a memorial service is held in the village temple, and prayers are offered for the repose of the dead whale's soul.—Chicago News.

Baseball Players and Foot Racers!

Louis J. Kruger, ex-champion long distance foot racer of Germany and Holland, writes Oct. 27, 1901: "During my training of eight weeks' foot races at Salt Lake City, in April last, I used Ballard's Snow Liniment to my greatest satisfaction. Therefore, I highly recommend Snow Liniment to all who are troubled with sprains, bruises or rheumatism." 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

A Roumanian Custom.

A strange custom is still observed in Roumania which reminds one strongly of Robinson Crusoe. When a servant has displeased his or her master the offender takes his boots in his hands and places them before the bedroom door of his master. It is a sign of great submission, and the boots are either kicked away as an intimation that the fault will not be forgiven or else the servant is told to place them on his feet, which shows that he is forgiven.

Shattered Ideal.

"Paw, what does it mean where it says here that the girl's ideal was shattered?" "Why, it means she found that she could marry a wealthier man."—Detroit Tribune.

Indigestion.

With its companions, heartburn, flatulence, torpidity of the liver, constipation, palpitation of the heart, poor blood, headache and other nervous symptoms, sallow skin, foul tongue, offensive breath and a legion of other ailments, is at once the most widespread and destructive malady among the American people. The Herbine treatment will cure all these troubles. 50c bottle. Sold by W. M. Johnson.
